This schedule will be in place during the time of Comprehensive Distance Learning and will shift to the 6 period day schedule when students are back on-site later in the year.*

- Class begins for all middle school students at 9:00 a.m. every morning.
- The bell schedule will serve as a guide for a student's day, helping them keep organized and ensuring they are getting the personalized support they need.
- The first week of school will include training and support for students on how to log in to access classes, submit assignments, collaborate with peers and contact teachers.
- Students will start each day with the same teacher in an AVID/advisory class. The purpose for this consistent start to the day is to provide a daily check in, and a small group approach to making sure each student is ready to start the day successfully.
- All classes will begin on time with attendance, followed by a live session with the teacher using Google Meets. The length of the live session may vary depending on the focus of the lesson, it's content and the needs of students.

- Example: AVID starts at 9:00 a.m. every morning. Students will log into Canvas and join their AVID class in a Google Meet, which is a live two-way video conference. The teacher will welcome all students, take attendance and prepare students for the day. The teacher may answer questions, review the day's schedule and provide AVID strategies for successful online learning. Each period of the day will follow this format. Students log into a live Google Meets, the teacher takes attendance and delivers a live lesson to students. Once the lesson is complete students work on the tasks assigned to them. This process continues for the three periods the student is responsible for each day.
- All live sessions will be recorded and posted daily in Canvas for students who are not able to attend a class in real time or need to review material that was missed. This allows for flexibility for families who need it and/or if a student experiences technical difficulty during the day.
- Coursework and participation in live lessons by students (or recorded videos) happens daily.
- During Personalized Learning Support, all students will be given time to continue to work on coursework individually at their own pace. Teachers will work with students who want or need additional support in a small group format. Teachers may also use a portion of this time to reach out to parents to communicate about student progress. Students may also request additional support or accelerated learning opportunities during this time.
